Brian and Sue Sisson were among close to 100 who attended the Heritage Ball Saturday at the Community Centre. Maintaining the theme of the evening, the couple was dressed in costumes reflecting the early days of Minden's 125 year history. Sue's school marm costume was complete with hand bell, while Brian's attire evoked memories of the circuit rider preacher.

Township could be liable

Stanhope Township's municipal solicitors have informed council that the municipality may be liable for injuries or damages that occur on an improved road allowance, even if the allowance is not being maintained by the municipality.

The solicitors were referring to a resolution that was passed by council in November 1983 that approved, in principle, a request by Mr. Jack Fry to open a portion of an original road allowance for the purpose of constructing a driveway to his cottage.

The approval was made with the understanding, as stated in the motion, that the Township would be "held harmless from liability as a result of future use of this allowance and also with the understanding that the proposed road will not be maintained by the Township."

The solicitors notified council that under the Municipal Act, if a municipality condones the improvement of a road allowance the municipality could be held liable for any injuries or damages that occur on the improved road.

It was also noted that since road allowances are considered a public roadway any improvements that are made must be maintained by the municipality.

Council members decided to notify Mr. Fry of their concerns and will deal with several optional courses of action at the next council meeting.

Stanhope approves plan for airport

Stanhope Township council has adopted a development to improve and upgrade existing facilities at the municipally operated airport. The decision to adopt the plan was made at the monthly council meeting following a presentation by the engineering consulting firm of Marshall, Macklin and Monahan.

In an interview with the Times on Friday Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis outlined the reasons for council's decision to adopt the plan.

The Reeve explained that "this development plan was necessary to allow the township to be eligible for any provincial subsidy money for development purposes, in an effort to improve and upgrade safety conditions at the airport."

"Since December 1983 the consultants have been in the process of preparing a preliminary study which included several proposals. On March 28 council and the Airport Committee met with the consultants to discuss these proposals. At this time they settled on two possible alternatives and a further meeting was called on April 11 to review both of these proposals," Reeve Davis explained.

"At this meeting council unanimously rejected a plan for a 4000 ft. runway for three reasons. First of all it was their opinion that the need was just not there. Secondly, the plan would have involved closing the Airport Road and thirdly, it would have required additional property acquisitions. The accepted plan will result in the development of existing airport facilities which are located east of Airport Road. I emphasize that this is only a development plan and will only be implemented according to municipal and provincial funding on a long term basis. Provincial funding accounts for 80% of the total cost with 20% to be borne by the municipality."

"At this point in time we are awaiting the completion of the final plan and the estimated costs. The final plan still requires adoption by council and does not obligate the municipality in any way but simply provides guidance for any future development," the reeve said.

Presently the facilities at the airport include a 1640 ft. grass surfaced runway. Under the proposed plan the runway would be increased in length to 780 metres (2559 ft.) and the surface would be paved. The extension would be to the east of the present runway.

In addition to the paved runway and a public apron, the proposal includes a general lease area, an intra-airport road, a tie down area and additional hangars.

Reeve Davis added that the proposed project will not interfere with the annual Stanhope Fly-In. "In the meantime it's full steam ahead for one of the finest air shows we have ever had at the Fly-in on July 8," he concluded.

Purchase of backhoe approved on split vote

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden will purchase a multi-purpose tractor, including a backhoe attachment. The decision to make the purchase came at the April 12 meeting of the council. Councillor Gary Kenney, who has expressed strong reservations about the purchase since it was first proposed, registered the only opposing vote.

According to Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, the purchase of the new tractor, which will cost $48,900, will be made with funds from the municipality's general account. It had been earlier proposed that surplus money in the water department would be used to make the purchase.

However, the deputy reeve explained that the water department's surplus funds will be borrowed by the municipality, from time to time, when the municipality's general account reaches a deficit position.

Since taxes are collected on a quarterly basis, the municipality has an uneven cash flow during the year. When the general account reaches a deficit position, extra funds are borrowed from the bank at current interest rates. The excess water system funds will be used as a base for borrowing first, according to the plan laid out by the deputy reeve, before money is borrowed from the bank. The water system will be paid the same interest rate which would accrue to the bank at the time of borrowing. The municipal general account will have access to up to $55,000 in surplus water funds.

Kenney had objected to the purchase of the piece of equipment for a number of reasons. He said when the purchase was first suggested that the need for the equipment had not been demonstrated, and he questioned whether surplus money from the water account should be used to finance the purchase of the machine.

The municipality carried out a needs study during the past few weeks and according to Pergolas, the results indicated there would be sufficient need for the machine if it were purchased.

Municipal departments will be charged $17.50 per hour when using the tractor.

The bid submitted by B.E. Larkin Equipment Ltd. was accepted by the split vote of the council.

First look at official plan

Members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council and the township's planning advisory committee got their first look at the draft official plan for the community April 12. Robert Lehman, planner and consultant, presented the document to the councillors and committee members.

The 45 page document is the result of close to six months of study. Its purpose is to provide a framework for the growth and development of the municipality over the next five to ten years. The plan deals with residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, rural, recreational, tourism, transportation, heritage resources and mineral aggregate resources. Under each of these headings the plan lays out policies which will apply with respect to future growth and development.

Lehman pointed out that the document presented to the council represented a first draft and that revisions and changes could still be made. Once the council and planning committee had studied the document and made the changes which they feel are necessary, a public meeting will be held at which time the ratepayers of the municipality will be given an opportunity to add their comments and suggestions for changes.

That meeting is expected to be held during the summer months so that recreational property owners will be able to attend and comment.

A review of several portions of the document revealed differences of opinion Thursday morning. For example, the draft plan stated that lots currently fronting on a private road, mainly those serving lakefront properties, may be developed, but new lots, requiring the extension of private roads would not be permitted.

Lehman suggested it was provincial policy to discourage development on new private roads. He said it was unlikely the approval required at the provincial level would be forthcoming without the provision in place.

Members of the council and planning committee voiced concerns about such a policy, noting the change could result in families being unable to sever and share their lakeshore property with other family members. It was also pointed out that there wasn't that much property in the municipality which would be affected by the provision.

Further discussion of this provision will take place at a future meeting.

Another item which resulted in some debate was the strength of a wording restricting the type of commercial growth along the by-pass. While some members felt that any restrictions could result in a loss of commercial investment to other communities, others felt that the restrictions should be strong enough to protect the commercial life of the downtown area.

The meeting did not reach a consensus on the matters being questioned, however future meetings will be held to prepare a draft of the plan which will then be presented to the public for consideration.

Study should ease concern

There was good news for Minden residents who live near the river at the April 12 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council.

During the discussion of the draft official plan, it was revealed that the flood line mapping, which is currently underway, has indicated that the community has all but experienced the worst conditions that can be expected. Reeve Lyle McKnight told the meeting that preliminary figures have shown that the high water experienced last year in the community was within an inch of the line which the experts have plotted as being the worst the village could expect.

The high water last spring flooded a number of streets adjacent to the river and caused minor damage in basements of homes along the water course. However, little serious or long-lasting problems arose because of the elevated water level.

If the figures from the initial study hold true, the fears of area residents about loss of property value or outright restrictions or building and development should ease.

The mapping is being carried out to assist the establishment of the municipality's revised zoning by-law.

Seniors urged to apply

Two weeks ago this newspaper reported the approval for the construction of the Staunworth Housing Authority apartment complex for senior citizens. It was mentioned at that time that some 60 applications had been received for the 22 units which will be constructed this summer.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, who also serves as chairman of the housing authority, has commented since the article appeared that a number of individuals have suggested that because of the large number of applications it would be useless to apply for one of the units. Pergolas has corrected that impression, however, by noting that not all those who have applied will necessarily be accepted. The apartment vacancies will be allotted according to a detailed set of criteria.

Senior residents of the three municipalities involved, Lutterworth, Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden are urged to contact their municipal offices if they are interested in accommodation at the new complex.

Stolen car wrecked: pair charged

The theft of an automobile from Curry Motors in Haliburton has resulted in charges being laid against two men from that community.

Police report that a resident of the village reported seeing an individual inside the dealership in the early hours of Wednesday morning. Three officers were dispatched to the scene and arrived within 20 minutes.

They discovered that a break-in had taken place, however the intruder had already left the scene. Taken was a cash drawer with some funds, several boxes of candy bars and a set of car keys.

An intensive search of the community's business district failed to turn up any sign of the culprit or of other break-ins.

However, the thief returned to the dealership office several hours later and placed a set of truck licence plates on a 1984 Pontiac parked outside. With the keys stolen earlier the thief took the car and fled.

Later the same morning, two individuals approached the Millbrook Correctional Institute requesting visitors passes. The request was denied, however a staff member at the institution noticed the car they were driving had truck licence plates.

Alerting the Millbrook OPP detachment, an officer responded to the call. As he drove toward the institution, he passed the vehicle, which had crashed into a hydro pole. Two individuals were standing beside the wrecked auto. The pair were arrested and charged.

Facing charges of break, enter and theft, theft of a vehicle and possession of stolen property are Jamie Richard Austin, 16, and 21 year old Terry Curtis Grant, both of Haliburton.

The stolen vehicle, valued at $14,000, was demolished in the accident.

Truck recovered
A pick-up truck reported stolen from a Minden parking lot April 7 has been recovered. The vehicle was located, undamaged near Maple Lake on April 11. Police are still investigating the incident.

A plan worth watching

It is interesting to observe the process which the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council is going through in regard to the development of an official plan. The members of council and the special committee struck to assist with the plan's creation got their first over-all look at the draft document Thursday.

The plan, once it is adopted, will form the basis for the municipality's development over the next five to ten years. The policies recorded in the plan will form the basis for the revised zoning by law, a second document which will provide specific guidelines for new construction.

The terms of the official plan are broad, however, since the document is recognized by the provincial government, through the Ontario Municipal Board, as a statement of intent and policy, the decisions taken in the next few months could have long reaching affects on the three townships.

Two examples of the implications the official plan could have surfaced during the discussion Thursday. Further development of lakefront property on new private roads and commercial development on the Highway 35 by-pass were discussed.

The debate which followed failed to reach any final conclusion, allowing consultant, committee members and councillors further time to consider the options.

These and other important policies will be contained in the final official plan document. These policies will have an impact on virtually all members of the community. For that reason alone all ratepayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden should be taking an active interest in the creation of this plan. While the discussion of the document's contents is limited to the councillors, committee and consultant, public input will be invited once the terms of the draft plan have been hammered out. Everyone concerned with the future of his or her community should be prepared to examine the draft policy and provide comments when the time comes.

Hydro could rise 9.1%

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

It has been estimated that Hydro's proposed 9.1 per cent rate increase for 1985 will cost the average homeowner about $50 next year.

I feel it is ironic, to say the least, that the provincial government would allow Hydro to propose a 9.1 per cent increase (after 7.8 per cent this year and 8.2 per cent in 1983), while requiring workers to accept salary settlements below the inflation rate.

The Minister of Energy has indicated that Hydro rate increases will be higher than inflation for at least the next two or three years. Hydro officials maintain that without the increase, which is about 4 percentage points above the predicted inflation rate for 1985, the corporation would be short some $350 million which it needs for 1985.

The Minister has indicated that international lenders who have provided cash for the corporations' multibillion-dollar building campaigns would grow uneasy if Hydro were forced to borrow to meet operating expenses.

Funding for the arts

Opposition Members questioned the Minister of Citizenship and Culture about the Macaulay Report which in essence states that the Minister is starving the arts and fattening her own bureaucracy. She was asked how she could justify the sorry state of funding of the arts in Ontario when she is at the same time inflating her own information budget, which doubled last year to some $2.4 million, although it is providing absolutely no productivity for artists and the arts.

The Macaulay Report maintained that the ministry could get the best value for its investment in the arts by exhibiting restraint in its own operation. It stated that the province contributes only 9 per cent of the actual expenditures on the arts, with the remainder coming from other levels of government. This is the lowest percentage for any province in Canada, and is in fact only 50 per cent of the average level.

A survey sponsored by the committee discovered that 53 per cent of the province is prepared to spend up to $25 per person per annum more in this connection through taxation. MPP Hugh O'Neil cited the fact that Ontario's spending on the arts has declined by over 20 per cent since 1978/79 levels, and quoted from the Report "We believe that unless there are increases in the provincial subsidy to the arts, in part to correct the erosion caused by information, we could lose some of our exciting talent and we will have squandered much of our sizeable investment."

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Chances are that Christmas dinner is as close as you've ever come to contact with a wild turkey. For many people, they're the stuff of American folklore. No wonder. By the early 1930's they were all but wiped out south of the border and long gone from that portion of their original range in southwestern Ontario, due to habitat destruction and hunting.

Famed naturalist C.H.D. Clarke appeared to conclude their story when he compared the prospects for restoring this magnificent bird to the challenge of reintroducing buffalo to the prairie wheat country. But today Meleagris gallopavo, one of two turkey species native to north America, is back in Ontario, released in small numbers into part of its former range in Haldimand - Norfolk.

Growing to a length of three to four feet and with a wing span of up to six feet, wild turkeys depend on tracts of mature deciduous forests for cover. Mating in late winter before ground-nesting, they feed on wild fruit, berries and nuts and occasionally small birds or mice. Keen eyesight, excellent camouflage and strong wings, allow wild turkeys to keep their distance from intruders, which makes them very attractive to hunters.

Reintroduction has been attempted before in Ontario with little success. This is largely because it was executed by inexperienced individuals, using birds which had interbred with domestic stock and were unable to survive in the wild. But this winter's well-organized release involving the Ministry of Natural Resources, the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters and the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, faces other serious obstacles. Severe winters could wipe out a fledgling population overnight. Poaching and accidental interbreeding with domestic birds also pose real problems requiring close monitoring of the unpublicized release sites. Such programs are expensive and involve tremendous logistical problems in arranging the purchase, safe capture and transport of the transplanted stock.

We won't know for some time if the experiment will prove as successful here as others have south of the border. But together with recent programs to resurrect the peregrine falcon and bald eagle in southern Ontario, the reintroduction of the wild turkey is a laudable sign that wildlife managers are developing a commitment to maintain, indeed restore, the wildlife diversity which we have all come to cherish.

Editor:

I was disturbed to read the board of education's decision not to amend its policy regarding public delegations at board meetings (April 4 edition of The Times).

I believe the board has made a mistake in adopting this policy.

I agree with one opponent of the policy who says the public will be denied direct access to a public body. Direct is the key word.

The problem with the policy is that the full board may not hear some public concerns because they will be delegated to a committee. Granted, in its minutes to the board, the committee will list the various public presentations but committee members may have to explain in detail what the presentations were about. Wouldn't it be simpler to allow the presentations at the regular board meeting?

One alternative to the policy is to allow public delegations at the beginning of a regular board meeting and then, if necessary, refer them to a particular committee. That way, the whole board has input on the decision and was able to hear the presentations. Many other city's boards and councils operate this way with few, if any, problems.

Regarding Mr. Hodg-

son's argument that the matter of public delegations arose because committees were able to work out solutions, who's to say the full board couldn't have done the same. He also neglected to say whether the committee was better able to come to a solution than the board.

I also feel that the issue of the formality or informality of a meeting and how that affects decision-making is irrelevant. Mr. Hodgson doesn't explain what he means when he says committee meetings are less formal than general meetings. Is he referring to the difference in the number of people present, the structure of the meeting or the way people conduct themselves during a meeting?

Is he saying the only reason the committee could come to a solution was because the meeting was less formal?

Regarding trustee Cheryl Murdoch's comment that "nine times out of ten" problems can be resolved at the committee level, is she implying that the concern is so trivial that the board shouldn't be bothered with it? All public concerns should be heard by the board no matter how insignificant the members might think it to be.

The upshot is of course that the concern may end up back at the full board anyway which is where it should have been aired first and foremost.

Susan Scott,
Peterborough.

Editor:

Mr. Feir is to be commended for beginning his column in the Echo, April 11th, with an expression of concern for the world's hungry. We need to be reminded that in our small global community there are many persons who are in desperate need of help. With a little assistance from us, their more affluent neighbours, they can be helped to help themselves.

Haliburton County has the Help A Village Effort (H.A.V.E.) Committee, which exists primarily to fund self-help projects among the desperately needy villagers of our world. Currently it is planning a big County Walk - "Walk For Wells", to take place on Saturday, June 2. The purpose of this 33 km walk (from Haliburton to Lochlin, to Ingoldsby and back to Haliburton) is to raise money for the drilling of wells in drought-prone Indian villages. Near Hyderabad, India, villages, which are urgently needing pure drinking water in adequate supply, have been selected for well drilling.

Families, cottagers, visitors, and any one who can walk, run, and sponsor are invited to take part in this big County effort.

Let's show the hungry and thirsty in a practical way that we are really concerned for their plight.

Hospitality centre

We had the pleasure of attending the Italian Night at the Hospitality Training Centre on April 10.

The students and staff really have to be commended for their work. The food was delicious and well presented by students who are obviously very enthusiastic about their new careers. Scott Hammond, one of the instructors reports that at least once a month the Training Centre students put on a function that involves the people of the community, including their future employers. These functions are most essential from a technical training point of view. They give students the opportunity to exercise their newly acquired skills not only in front of guests, but also at a standard that is acceptable by the hospitality industry.

The Haliburton Highlands Hospitality Training Centre is the only program in existence that trains employees for entry level positions in the hospitality industry.

Rebecca Parkes is the Managing Director and is as charming as she is talented. Her supportive guidance is evident trainees comments regarding the life skills training portion of the program.

Rebecca Parkes will be guest speaker and the topic is "Help your staff work to full potential". The admission

Pinus strobus

On September 9, 1983, 32 representatives from provincial tree and forest organizations sat down in a Toronto boardroom and voted Pinus strobus, eastern white pine, the official arboreal emblem of Ontario. The official tree idea was a notion of the late James Auld's, in 1980 when he was Minister of Natural Resources. It fit the criteria of the officials who chose the species: a native tree with broad distribution; one with good life expectancy, shape and the ability to grow under varying conditions. It also had to have economic, cultural and historical importance and good looks.

Ontario's Natural Resources Magazine "Landmarks" also states "Ontario is built on a white pine foundation. White pine provided shelter, furniture, industries and jobs, created transportation networks, let to exploration and brought in foreign capital.

Throughout the 1800's, money from cutting timber - most of it white pine - and the sale of cutting rights made up the single largest source of revenue for the provincial treasury. It financed government functions and helped build our first roads and schools. At one time, Ontario's white pine accounted for nearly 40% of the exports from all of Canada.

Astounded by tax hearings

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

During the week of March 19, I joined the Progressive Conservative Task Force on Revenue Canada. I participated in the public hearings held in Burnaby, British Columbia, Cranbrook, British Columbia, Calgary, Alberta, and Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. My schedule consisted of attending day long hearings and then flying off to the next city in the evening with just enough time to prepare for the next day.

As Deputy Critic for National Revenue, I thought I had seen almost every conceivable type of problem taxpayers face in their attempt to comply with the Income Tax Act before I joined the Tax Force. What I heard astounded me.

Situations which I thought were unique to a particular constituent of mine are happening routinely across this country. Everywhere we went, we heard of small businessmen being forced into receivership by Revenue Canada. We heard of many, many cases of taxpayers who, through no fault of their own, are not able to pay their assessed taxes, but are still being harassed and threatened. In many cases, farmers have their income tax reassessed by auditors who know nothing about farming operations and thus do not understand that expectation of profit is viewed much differently by farmers than other businessmen.

One overwhelming thing came across in our tour. Canadians across this country fear Revenue Canada more than anything else. They feel intimidated and frightened in their dealings with local tax officers, sometimes hundreds of miles from their home. More than the replacement of a Deputy Minister is necessary to restore Canadians' faith in the income tax collection system.

The Task Force wound up its hearings in Ottawa on March 29, on the same day as the Deputy Minister was replaced. When asked, in the House of Commons, if he took some responsibility himself for the maladministration of his department, the Minister of Revenue said he wants to continue to work with the officials of the Department.

As Chris Speyer, M.P. for Cambridge said in the House that day, "Mr. Speaker, Mr. MacDonald is being used as a sacrificial lamb. He is the one the Liberals have assigned to carry the can for the irresponsibility of the Minister".

Council briefs

Items from the April 12 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council.

Tender accepted

A tender in the amount of $2841 for eight street lights was accepted by the council. The lights will be purchased from the lowest bidder, Jim Howe Construction. Three other contractors bid on the purchase.

There was some confusion at the time the bids were opened, at the March 22 meeting of council. At that time the Howe bid had included a separate cost for photo-electric cells which control the operation of the lights. Other bidders had apparently included this item in their single bid.

However, the council noted that the Howe bid was still the lowest of the four offered, and therefore agreed to accept the figure.

The other bids included Minden Electric at $3066; Modern Electric at $3192; and Pritchard Electric at $3450.

Information Centre

The municipality has received verbal approval for the hiring of staff for the new Boundary Information Centre under the Career Access Program sponsored by the federal government. Under the scheme the senior government will pay 50% of the wages for the supervisor at the centre, located at the southern end of Lutterworth Township.

Bicentennial grant

The municipality has also been notified that a grant of $3000 will be given to the community to assist in the bicentennial celebrations.

The provincial grant is short of the amount requested by the municipality, but represents the maximum amount the province would allocate to any one municipality. Allocation of the funds will be made by the committee overseeing the bicentennial and municipal 125th anniversary celebrations.

Sale approved

Formal approval was given to the sale of municipal land for the construction of the 22 unit senior citizens' apartment complex in Minden.

The property, located next to the tennis courts, will be sold to the Staunworth Housing Authority. The housing authority, representing the municipalities of Lutterworth, Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden, will construct an apartment complex on the site for seniors from the three jurisdictions. Construction is expected to start this spring.

Stanhope council briefs

Items from the April 11 meeting of Stanhope Township council.

A letter from the Maple-Beech Property Owners Association was read to council concerning improvements to the St. Peters Road.

The association asked whether the township intended to eliminate several sharp corners on the road and improve the road surface near the corners.

Road Superintendent Harold Barjarow pointed out to council that in order to by-pass the corners, a new road would have to be constructed across private property. The road superintendent also noted that there is not enough right of way between the road and a line of trees situated on private property to construct proper ditching that would improve the drainage of the roadway.

Council decided to notify the association that aside from regular maintenance, the township cannot make further improvements to the road.

Tender call

Council authorized the clerk to advertise for tenders for 31,000 gallons of used motor oil. The oil will be used during 1984 for the maintenance of gravel roads in the township.

Road subsidy

Council passed a motion authorizing the clerk to write to the provincial government expressing Council's concern over the decrease in the provincial subsidy for the construction and maintenance of township roads. The 1984 allocation is $7,000 less than last year.

The members agreed that the provincial government should be informed that they are concerned about the negative effects of the cut backs in guaranteed and supplementary grants.

Council endorsed seminar

A video tape presentation concerning the proliferation of pornographic material in Canada could be shown to an audience in the Minden area. The Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council endorsed a proposal for such a presentation by the special anti-pornography branch of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The letter from the OPP had requested the council's endorsement before proceeding with the presentation locally.

According to the letter read at the April 12 meeting of council, the video presentation graphically depicts scenes from pornographic movies currently being sold in the province. The presentation will include a discussion period prior to and following the screening of the video tape.

The letter notes that because of the explicit nature of the presentation, an age restriction of 18 years will be placed on those attending. As well, those in attendance will be advised to leave the room during the showing if they find the material too objectionable.

According to the OPP, the video presentation also depicts how commercials seen on regular television channels exploit sex to sell products.

Arrangements for the presentation will be made through the Minden OPP detachment.

Farmers attend line fence seminar

- Ag. report -

The construction and maintenance of line fences continues to be a concern for farmers generally in Ontario. As a result, a Line Fences Seminar was held in Lindsay last week, sponsored by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs & Housing, which is responsible for the administration of The Line Fences Act. This Seminar was attended by a large number of municipal councillors, clerks and fence viewers from across Victoria County.

A major concern is the fair division of cost when upkeep is required, between the property owners on each side. In the past when livestock were common on every farm, the need for well-kept fences was uniform across a farming area, and all farmers recognized their responsibility. Today, there are an increasing number of farm properties on which livestock are not kept, with many of these properties being owned by non-farmers and some by absentee owners.

As a result, an increasing percentage of property owners are unwilling to participate in the maintenance of line fences. As fencing costs escalate, this adds to the concern.

The first Line Fences Act was enacted in 1834, with the position of fence viewers actually being created in 1793 by the first Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada. The present Act was passed in 1979 when the previous Act received extensive revisions. The Act establishes the principle that, if a landowner wants a line fence to mark the boundary, then that landowner is entitled to construct a fence on the boundary line. If neither owner wants a fence, no fence is necessary. The basic purpose of the Act is to provide a local procedure for arbitrating disagreements between neighbouring landowners regarding their line fence.

Under the Act appeals can be heard by a judge of the Small Claims Court. Unfortunately, several decisions have recently been made in these courts which put the effectiveness of the Act open to question in the minds of many farmers. It is hoped that further revisions to the Act will be made by the Provincial Legislature in the near future which will clarify some of these problems.

One of the basic rules mentioned in the seminar which every livestock owner should be aware of is that it is a livestock owner's responsibility to see that all fences around a pasture field are adequate before turning any stock out on to that pasture. If an animal does get out and does damage to a neighbour's property, the livestock owner is responsible.

One discussion in the seminar on what forms an adequate fence was settled with the suggestion from pioneer days, that a fence should be 'horse high' and 'hog tight'.

4-H quilting project

"Scraps Can Be Beautiful" and "Recycling From The Scrapbag". These exhibits state much of the theme from the Victoria County 4-H project "Quilting", just drawing to a close. Friday, April 6, 1984, marked the end of the unit for members in the Burnt River, Bury's Green, East Emily, Kinmount, Kirkfield, North Emily, Omémee & District, Powles Corner, Reaboro, South Verulam I and South Verulam II Clubs. Club members, leaders, parents and friends gathered in the Conference and Board Rooms of the Ontario Provincial Building to view displays of pillows, quilts, tote bags and a variety of other projects made by the members. An informative program of skits and exhibits followed the open house session.

The highlight of the evening was the award presentation recognizing certain members for their 4-H achievements.

Four members - Lesley Knox, Bury's Green, Christina Brelsford, Kinmount, Gidget Wallace, Kinmount and Kim Wallace, Kinmount received County Honour Pins and Certificates.

A Provincial Honour pin and certificate was presented to Karen Beggs, Bury's Green and Nicolette Van Oudenaren, South Verulam I.

The highest level of Achievement Advanced Honours was received by Bernice Mitchell of East Emily. Her silver pastry server and certificate will be special mementos of her 4-H experience.

As well as the members, three volunteer leaders received special recognition. Leadership Award Certificates were presented to Eileen Carew, Powles Corner and Beryl Connell, North Emily for 5 years of leadership and June Dettman, Kinmount, for 10 years of leadership.

"Quilting" is one of the 5 Bicentennial projects being offered to Ontario 4-H members during 1984. A second Achievement Night for Quilts has been scheduled for Friday, April 13. The second bicentennial project, "Computers" wraps up on Monday, April 30 while the Bicentennial "Horticulture" Project has just begun. "Fitness Fare" and "Personal Finance" this fall will round out the special project list.

Ontario's 4-H program is moving ahead to make sure our youth are prepared for the future in keeping with our new 4-H slogan: "Together Today For A Terrific Tomorrow."

Moose harvest changes announced

Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope today announced changes to the 1984 Ontario selective moose harvest - in direct response to suggestions by moose hunters throughout the province.

Beginning this year, all applicants for a cow or bull tag must first buy a moose hunting licence before entering the tag draw. If their name is not drawn for a validation tag, they may hunt only calves.

As well, hunters who applied last year and did not receive a tag in last year's computer draw will be given preferential treatment in the 1984 draw.

All applicants for 1984 moose validation tags will be divided into two pools: one for those who applied last year and did not receive tags and one for those who received a tag last year or are applying for the first time in 1984.

In addition, all hunters who apply for a validation tag this year may specify two choices of Wildlife Management Unit. Mr. Pope advised hunters to consult the Wildlife Management Unit Tag Quotas in their 1984 Moose Hunter's Handbook, and to choose units that had a ratio of available tags to applicants of 1:2 or less in 1983. Those units had less hunting pressure, and applying to hunt in them this year makes it more likely that a hunter will receive a tag.

"The choice of Wildlife Management Unit has a direct bearing on whether a hunter will receive a validation tag," Mr. Pope said. "In some Management Units last year, every hunter who applied for a tag received one. In others, however, the demand for tags was much greater, and this made the chances of not being drawn as high as nine to one," he said.

Depending on the number of applications in each unit - and provided that the unit's validation tag quota can accommodate all the applications - those whose names are entered in the preferred pool can receive a tag. If there are validation tags left over, names will then be drawn from the second pool. The application deadline for the 1984 draw is Tuesday, May 15.

"This improves the chances of receiving a validation tag for hunters who applied and did not receive one last year. This is being done to distribute tags more fairly over the initial, two-year period," the Minister said.

The total number of adult moose validation tags available for the 1984 hunt will be close to 50,000. As well, two Wildlife Management Units have been added this year to the four existing units which provide special archery seasons.

The ministry has held three open forums - in Timmins, Sudbury and Iroquois Falls - to discuss the moose harvest system, and another meeting has been scheduled for Thunder Bay.

As well, the Provincial Moose Allocation Advisory Committee will also hold public hearings in Thunder Bay on April 25 and Sudbury on April 26 to examine aspects of the selective harvest that affect tourist outfitters.

Mr. Pope said he wants to examine all the comments raised in the forums before proposing any major changes to future selective moose harvests. "But we felt we had to address a couple of the major concerns now, so hunters can plan for this season," he said.

The Minister cautioned that no change will be made on the current prohibition of party killing of moose until there is a clear consensus on the issue.

He added that the ministry will continue to exercise leniency toward hunters who report shooting the wrong animal. "All incidents will be investigated, and if the facts bear out that the shooting was accidental, charges will not be laid," he said.

A Moose Hunters' Handbook for 1984, which explains the details of the selective harvest program, were mailed beginning Tuesday, April 3 to all hunters who purchased a moose licence in 1983. The handbooks are now available at the ministry's District offices and from licence issuers.

Did you know...that our office has passport application forms for both adults and children?

Each time you apply for a passport you must submit a completed and signed application form, submit evidence of Canadian citizenship, have the application signed by an eligible guarantor, provide 2 signed photographs, submit any Canadian passport issued to you within the last 5 years and submit the current passport fee which is now $21.00.

Send your application and necessary documents in the envelope provided.

If your application is in order, a passport will be sent from Ottawa by mail within 2 weeks of the day the application is received, however, a passport may be obtained from a Regional Office in a shorter period of time. There is a list of Regional Offices in the application form.

Your County Information Centre has many other forms that you may need and if we don't, we can advise you as to where you can obtain them.

To receive information on social, health, governmental and environmental subjects, feel free to drop in or give us a call at 457-2733. Our office is open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber) in Haliburton.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question.

Historical society meeting set for Thursday night

A special meeting, which will likely result in the formation of a county-wide historical society, will be held this Thursday evening. The meeting will be the second of a series. The first was held several weeks ago at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

Stanhope Reeve, Harry Davis, who has been one of the organizers behind this effort, has noted that the main purpose of the organization will be to provide support for the Kanawa Canoe Museum.

The meeting Thursday will deal with the election of a board of directors.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council chambers.

Family news from C.H.A.C.E.

by Caroline Bishop

In case you have no young children, or for some other reason are not acquainted with C.H.A.C.E. Place, let us introduce ourselves. C.H.A.C.E. was developed as a place for families to grow and receive support. It is our goal to make parenting a worthwhile and enjoyable experience and a number one priority for every person with children, whether or not that person has a job outside the home.

C.H.A.C.E. Place is a resource centre for parents as well as children. With this in mind we have attempted to provide as much information as possible for parents in our reference library, through magazine subscriptions, informal organized workshops, and in our daily drop in centre. We have special days and activities for children (check out the classifieds!), a library for children, and lots and lots of toys to play with at the centre and to take home on loan. Our hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. (Note that we will be closed on Easter weekend from Friday, April 20 to Monday, April 23 inclusive)

All residents and visitors to the county are welcome to drop in and use the facilities at the centre, and are invited to become members. Membership fees are $12 per family per year, from April 1 to March 31, and provide access to the toy and book lending library, a quarterly newsletter, and voting privileges. No fee is required for use of the drop in facility; that is free of charge for everyone.

Newsletter

A hard-working crew of budding journalists has just produced the inaugural issue of our quarterly newsletter, "Family Focus". You may have your very own copy by picking it up at C.H.A.C.E., free to members, and a limited number of extra copies available for $1 each.

When you read this we will have celebrated our first full year of operation under the capable direction of a tireless Board, aided by two amazing staff people, Faye Maddock and Marilou Mizzan, who are largely responsible for blending so many contributions into the unique character of C.H.A.C.E. Marilou, unfortunately for us, has recently left; in fact she is honeymooning in the Bahamas right now. All of us, especially the children who were her first priority, miss her. There are now two new faces at C.H.A.C.E.: Mary MacDonald and Rozanne Hynard have taken part time positions with us. We welcome them both.

Some current events at

C.H.A.C.E.: we are just winding up a St. John Ambulance' Emergency First Aid course, and a series of wicker workshops in which participants have learned about basketry while making objects to be sold to benefit C.H.A.C.E.

We still have some cookbooks and T shirts for sale - get yours soon!

A "Colours Consultation" will be held on Saturday, April 28 and Saturday, May 5, for a fee of $35, of which $10 goes to C.H.A.C.E. Preregister at C.H.A.C.E. soon.

First anniversary for C.H.A.C.E. Place

April 14 marked the first anniversary of C.H.A.C.E. Place and to celebrate the agency held a party complete with balloons, a giant cake and a sing-a-long.

The children at the party may not have realized that C.H.A.C.E. is an acronym for County Of Haliburton Agency For Child Enrichment Inc. or that the agency is entering the second year of its operation, but they were having too much fun to be concerned about such details.

C.H.A.C.E. Place has proven to be quite popular since its inception. About 90 families are making use of the facility located in the Lakeview Centre in Haliburton. There is a play area for children, a toy lending library, and a resource lending library where parents can choose from a wide selection of material dealing with families. The centre also provides a place for people to meet with others and discuss their experiences and concerns as parents.

The centre has also held a number of seminars and workshops dealing with family life.

On March 28 the first annual meeting was held to elect a new Board of Directors. During the meeting it was announced that the agency had been approved for funding for another year. The Ministry of Community and Social Services will be providing $43,245 to support the agency until March 31, 1985.

Rosie Kenney who was instrumental in establishing the agency was re-elected as chairperson. Anita Dillon was elected treasurer and Diane Hagerman selected as the new secretary.

Sharon Poldas, Dianne Dawson and Valerie Lougheed were returned for a second year on the board of directors, and Lyn Duncombe, Cheryl Bathe and Pat Martin became the newest directors.

Members of the CHACE Place Parent Child Resource Centre enjoy a few moments of fellowship following the organization's annual meeting. The membership elected a new executive for the coming year. The resource centre recently celebrated its first anniversary with a special birthday party.

Dear readers, it is a lovely morning and as I start this letter the sun is shining brightly, should make us all feel better.

In the chapel service Sunday night, the Thompson's were not there. Ruth had to play the music and lead the singing. Harold had to read the lesson, also to offer prayer. Now Rev. Burgess, who has a level head, he just took over and did it all instead. He said if we put our trust in the Lord, we may not be alarmed. He would hold us up with his everlasting arms.

In our office every other weekend is a lady with the name of Heidi. She is doing a real good job and keeps everything tidy.

Monday morning down at fun and fitness here is more news, Margaret Gainsforth won pitching horse shoes.

The cleaning ladies down on our floor are Barbara Carpenter and Helen Lee. The way they keep things shining is really good to see. Barbara says she has a new grandson and is looking for another one. We miss Joan Kernohan, we hardly get to see her anymore. She got promoted to a higher floor.

Our supervisor is still away having grand weather for his holidays.

Our head cook, Mark

Schell, is home sick, I guess with the flu. We miss his whistle around this place and leaves us feeling blue.

Angus Coulter works away, day after day. Making all old furnishings look like new. If he had to quit his job, I don't know what he'd do.

Rev. Burgess took the service in the chapel this lovely Tuesday, for Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church who is away. There were quite a number there, Fred Parker helped in the service by leading us in prayer. The Rev. John spoke on the scripture he had taken. David said, I was young, now I'm old, yet I have never seen the righteous forsaken.

Della Curry's grandsons came and did spend some time with their grandmother, and we are sure there were others, sons, daughters, husbands and brothers.

Wednesday morning the Grade 6 pupils from the Archie Stouffer School, came to Hyland Crest with their teacher Glen Carter to find out on this occasion what we Seniors did when we were young, for recreation. They asked us lots of questions, which was really fine. We answered all we could and had a jolly time.

Doris and Linda, our activity directors, have gone to Beaton or maybe other places to learn more about activities, to put us through our paces.

We welcome Fred and Beth Parker back again, we hope this time they'll stay. They're directing fun and fitness while our girls are away.

Wednesday night our entertainers came again. Cathy with her accordeon, Earl with fiddle and mandolin. Gord Ruttle playing the bones, you bet, yours truly playing the harmonica, we were a real quartet.

The Haliburton Anglican ladies brought in a delicious lunch this Thursday. Served it up in a very fitting way. We thank them for coming and they said then, they were glad to come and would like to come again.

The bingo was called Thursday night by Eldon Deacon and Larry King. Some players had real good luck, some didn't even win a thing.

Sorry to miss sing-song this Friday. But we just got word this morning that my dear wife had passed away.

Friday night Payne & Deacon with Don Burch with harmonica and jews harp came. Now Don can really play and is really sharp. They played and sang some real good old songs of long ago. Entertained for an hour or more and put on a real good show.

The Splendor of Spring

Each time you hear a robin's trill,

Or pick a spring flower on some hill,

Or see a green shoot break the earth,

Or watch a daffodil's rebirth,

Or view the cloud's pattern of grace,

Or feel the wind upon your face.

It's God who's saying, "Lo, I bring

New life to all...I am the spring!"

For all of nature, bird and sod

Is but a hymn of praise to God,

And all its beauty, joy and grace

It's the reflection of God's face.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. (Libbie) Mary Elizabeth Harrison, the wife of Beth Harrison, the senior's reporter from Hyland Crest, whose column often shares this page. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary last June with a special party at Hyland Crest. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. Harrison and family on the death of Mrs. Harrison.

About 100 people donned costumes reflecting eras long gone and attended the municipality's 125th anniversary gala heritage ball Saturday evening at the community centre. It was a shame more residents were not on hand to get into the spirit of the anniversary celebration. Those who did attend certainly enjoyed themselves and the tasty meal prepared by the Anglican Church Women. Everyone is now looking forward to the arrival of the sepia toned photographs which were taken in the special drawing room set on the stage. They'll make an excellent souvenir of the evening.

By the way, special congratulations to the winners of the best costume awards for the night. First place went to Chris and Carol Miles of Minden; second spot was won by Bill and Caryl Douglas of Gelett while third prize went to Bern and Doreen Berry of Minden Lake. The judges of the costumes included Reeve Lyle McKnight and Councillors Gary Kenney and Pat Burk, all who came suitably attired in costumes of their own.

A reminder that the Minden Agricultural Society will be holding a general meeting Wednesday, April 25, downstairs at the Minden municipal office. The time is 7:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. L. Porter this weekend was her son Bill and family as well as her daughter and son-in-law, Norma and Don Ellis.

The following are the winners from the Thursday night euchre at St. Paul's Anglican Church. Lone hands, won on a cut by Irene Houghton. Other winners included Johann Bieri, Charles Beharrell, Joyce Hewitt and S. McDougall.

The Monday night euchre at Club 35 produced the following winners: high ladies' hand Sheila Beatty, high men's hand a tie between Bill Donnelly and Art Hunt, lone hand Art Hunt.

Cummings; other winners Velda Harrison, Al McCarthy and Olive Daniels.

Hope everyone has a pleasant Easter weekend, with friends and family visiting for this special occasion.

The Times office will be closed Good Friday to allow staff members time with their families. We will be open again on Monday.

The Minden Boy Scouts are preparing a display of photographs depicting the development of the Scouting movement in the Minden area. This project is part of the organization's celebration of the municipality's and province's anniversary celebrations. Organizers Graham Wooden and Ron MacKenzie would appreciate receiving any old pictures of the community related to Scouting for this display. The pictures will be rephotographed so the originals can be returned to their owners and will not be damaged by preparing the display. If you have photographs which you feel might be of interest to the Scouts, please contact Graham Wooden at 286-1874, or Ron MacKenzie at 286-2819.

Here are a number of poems submitted by our readers.

by Irene Stewart

RENAISSANCE

If, recreated, my tired soul
Returns to earth anew,
I pray this may be its goal -
To be the colour blue.

The tender blue of sleeping mist,
The blue of azure skies,
Soft shades of gentian when dew-kissed,
The blue of babies' eyes.

The gentle violet's modest blue,
The bluebird's flashing wings,
The boundless ocean's vivid hue,
The royal blue of kings.

True blue I'd be without alloy,
Blue that would never fade,
But be an everlasting joy
To all hearts God hath made.

My Generous Friend

Hi There, my Generous Friend!
I do appreciate no end
Your generosity.
And here, Sir, man I lift my pen
To state the fact that honest men
Will view you with felicity.

It seems who lives by honest toil
And spurns the knave exploiter's spoil,
Lives closer to his kin,
And so is able to discern
Appreciate of their concern
And sympathies are twin.

If for each and every one
The knowledge of a job well done
Contained its own reward,
So denied the motive greed
But pleased met our human need,
Maintained social accord.

'Tis in such soil the virtues grow,
Where honest men both share and know
The meaning of compassion,
And heartily each hand to grip
In token of good fellowship
Expressed in kindly fashion.

Oh let us hope man's conflict, hate,
Is but the converse, the travail,
Attending on that day
When reason takes the place of might
To guarantee mankind the right
To peace, security.

Super Beauti-Tone
Weather Shield
Clear Cedar Finish

Some woods such as cedar or cypress have built-in inhibitors, but all sooner or later are subject to deterioration from marking, fungus or insects. Not all wood preservatives are equal. Factory pressure-treated lumber is best, but Home Hardware's Super Beauti-Tone Weather-shield is excellent.

It preserves and protects the natural colour of cedar and will restore weathered greyed cedar. It must be applied in two coats, wet on wet. May be renewed with one coat when required. This is the only finish that keeps natural cedar looking like natural cedar, year after year. An ultra violet inhibitor and wood preservative is built right into the finish.

Home Handyman Hint

A tumbler from a bottle.
Some bottles are just too rich to be discarded. It is simple to convert its bottom part to a smart tumbler. Fill the vessel with light oil to the desired height. Using a pair of pliers heat a short rod red-hot over a torch. Dip this red-hot rod into the oil and a clean break around the circumference of the vessel at the height of the oil will result.

The sharp edges of the break can be readily smoothed with medium and then fine aluminum oxide cloth.
